DESIGNATION OF streets in this urbanized sprawl in which we live can be tricky and confusing.

There are drives, roads, ways, boulevards, avenues, streets, lanes, courts, etc.

In fact, our brother John, who has just moved into "The Villages" lives on a "corner."

In most instances, however, whatever the suffix is in the name of the thoroughfare, it really doesn't make much of a difference.

For example, one can leave off the "boulevard" designation of Winchester and it doesn't bother anyone.

Of course, there are other instances when that doesn't hold true.

In Campbell, as a case in point, there is a "Sobrato Court," plus a "Sobrato Lane" and then a "Sobrato Way."

So one has to know what particular "Sobrato" is desired, if one is looking for an address.

It could get a little complicated.

BUT NOW WE HAVE "uncovered" another trivia affecting a street name in town. It really is no big deal but is still "interesting" in a sort of an academic or speculative way.

We say "uncovered" but that really is not a fair way to describe it. Actually we really just "discovered" how observing we are, or unobserving.

On the way to the post office almost daily, we obviously traverse "Latimer", inasmuch as the postal facility is located on that street.

Now, as long as we have been around these parts, "Latimer" has been known as an "avenue".

Imagine our surprise when we just happened the other day to look at the street signs between "Central" and "Winchester" on "Latimer" and found out we were on "Latimer St." on one side and "E. Latimer St." on the other.

That stretch of "Latimer" goes along the new "Hamilton Downs" development of McKeon Construction on the former Gomes Ranch. Of course, new street signs were needed for the extensions into the area of "First," "Second" and "Third" streets.

But our curiosity was aroused.

So we barreled on down to the "Winchester" intersection.

There "Latimer" was designated as "Avenue."

We crossed "Winchester" and at "Dunster" it was still "Avenue."

Then we backtracked clear to "Central."

There the sign read "Central Ave. - Latimer Ave."

Only at "First," "Second" and "Third" is "Latimer" a "street."

We haven't the slightest idea how long those street signs have been up.

Or how many times we have looked at 'em and really didn't see them.

But how long really doesn't matter.

The moral is, of course, that you can't believe everything you read.

IN REPORTING THE APpointment of Milt Howe to the Planning Commission both the San Jose News and the Mercury noted that Milt was graduated from San Jose State in 1931.

Inasmuch as Milt is only 41 years old now, that would have taken some little doing.

Obviously, the Merc-News reports were confused between Milt's year of birth and his college years.

A difference of a mere 20 years or so.

And 20 years does make a difference.

Or had you noticed?

UP IT GOES---TOWERS II in the PruneYard at Campbell and Bascom avenues moves skyward as the steel beams are lofted into place. With "The Towers", the 18-story office building, as a backdrop, construction is moving onward and upward on the PruneYard's second towers, a 10-story office building.

The building will rise 110-feet in the air when completed and will have 125,000 square feet of office space. A joint venture of Fred Sahadi and Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Co., the estimated cost of the structure, which will have a similar exterior to that of "The Towers I", is $2.4 million. The time schedule calls for completion by October of this year.

RESIDENTS OBJECT TO PROCEDURE

City to rescind Amato ordinance

By a unanimous vote the City Council on Monday night directed that "Ordinance No. 832", termed the "Amato ordinance", which changed the zoning on the 31-acre Amato property (between Campbell and Latimer) from R-1 (single-family), be rescinded.

But the residents in the area, who for months have fought the "Amato ordinance" and had apparently won their fight through the Council directive to rescind it, were on hand to voice objections to the rescinding procedure.

Spokesmen for the protesting residents maintained that the Council should act on the referendum petition that had been presented rather than the request by the developer.

12-MONTH PERIOD?

Bob Sneed, of 241 Victor Ave., submitted that, if the Council rescinded the ordinance on the basis of the petition, there was a 12-month waiting period before any similar zone-change ordinance could be adopted. He was not sure whether such a condition prevailed otherwise.

City Attorney Bob Dempster tentatively agreed with Sneed's point but wanted time to check it out.

Other leaders in the long zoning battle took the floor to reiterate Sneed's viewpoint.

Frank Klein, of 172 Branbury, challenged Dempster's opinion that the Council had the right to act beforehand and Harry Lewis, 850 Springfield, maintained that the petition took precedent over any other action.

Bob Chance, of 250 Coventry, asked the Council to defer adopting the rescinding ordinance until the petition was presented.

PETITION READY

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan reported that the petition would be returned by the next meeting whereupon Councilman Norm Paul pointed out that the ordinance would not be ready until then and no action could be taken until that time. The Council then, he added, could proceed with the official rescinding procedure and action on the petition at the same time. Paul suggested that further discussion at the present meeting served no purpose.

Dempster agreed that there would be no problems in acting on the matters simultaneously at the next meeting.

So the curtain dropped on another act of the long-playing Amato drama to go up again on the final performance on May 22 when an ordinance-to-rescind-an-ordinance and a referendum petition apparently are to have equal billing.

BY 3-2 VOTE

The ill-fated and controversial ordinance was approved by a 3-2 vote of the City Council on March 27 and would have gone into effect on April 27.

However, just prior to the effective date, a petition with 1900 signatures was filed with the city clerk asking the Council to either rescind the ordi-

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Commercial zone of residences off Bascom concerns Planners

Whether the zoning of four lots, now zoned commercial just off S. Bascom on E. Campbell, Fewtrell and Apricot should be changed to correspond to their present residential use will be a question under discussion at the Planning Commission meeting next Monday, April 15.

The lots in question are all now in a C-2-S (commercial) zone. They front on residential streets and residences now exist on them. The hearing is on the question of whether the zone should be changed to R-1 or R-M

The zone change action was initiated by the Planning Commission and the public hearing on the matter will be held next Monday. Should the Planning Commission approve the zone change the recommendation will be forwarded to the City Council for final action.

The public hearing was scheduled when some of the planning commissioners expressed concern over the encroachment of commercial activity on residential streets off S. Bascom. They felt that such activities should be oriented to Bascom because there was no "buffer" for the residential area.

Complicating the issue next Monday, however, is the request for approval of plans for a commercial building to be located at 1062 E. Campbell, just to the rear of La Fonda, by Maurice Martin. A single family residence is now on the site. The Martin family owns La Fonda and adjacent property on S. Bascom on which a new commercial building has been constructed.

According to the notice of the public hearing, eight addresses are listed but planning staff members point out that only four parcels are involved, two on E. Campbell, one on Fewtrell and one on Apricot.

The staff explains that 1035, 1039, 1049 and 1059 E. Campbell are residences on one lot. The Martin property (1062) is across the street.

The addresses on Fewtrell (1044 and 1046) identify a duplex. The 983 Apricot address is just one lot.

Other items on the agenda for next Monday include discussion on plans for an industrial building submitted by Oliver Nelson at 520 McGlincey Lane. The matter has been continued from past meetings. Residents in the area have emphasized the need for a buffer between the building and the residential area.

Other items include plans for an addition for Snowden-Pencer at 1587 Dell, and plans for the remodeling of a Texaco station at 1501 W. Campbell.

W. W. Martin is asking approval for an equipment storage yard at 188-189 Kennedy Ave., and plans for an industrial building have been submitted by Jack Trimble at 75-81 Dillon.

Plans for a residence for E. R. Nolen, at 313 Grant Ave., in the Civic Center zone are also scheduled to be presented.

Vincent Talluto is asking for a use permit to operate a vehicle rental at the service station at Winchester and Latimer and Garland [illegible] is seeking a use permit to operate retail outlet for house trailers and campers at 175 Curtner.

Also on the agenda is a zone change request of Benjamin B. Smith for a 16-acre parcel on the south side of Division.

Board meets

A light agenda faces the trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District this Thursday, May 11, at 7 p.m. in the administration building as interest centers on the forthcoming tax election on July 25.

On that date the electorate in the district will be asked to approve the continuance of the $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation basic tax rate which reverts to $1.80 on June 30.

On Feb. 29, the voters turned down an increase of 50-cents in the basic rate (from $2.55 to $3.05).

POLICE CHIEF CLAIMS

City can save $22,901 next year with own radio dispatch

This city can save approximately $22,901 by operating its own radio dispatch service rather than continue with the county system, Police Chief Don Burr told the City Council on Monday night.

But the exact figures will not be known until the county submits a firm contract in June.

Campbell had installed the necessary equipment last year but continued with the county on a contract of $31,778, which breaks down for $28,500 for police, $2177 for fire and $301 for public works.

However, Burr explains, the county maintains that the actual cost was $92,782 and the county was in effect subsidizing the difference.

It has been indicated that the contract for the city will be upped to $67,351 from the present $31,778 contract.

Chief Burr estimates that the city will be ready to operate by next October. It will be necessary then to pay the county $16,840 for three month's service.

It will cost the city $27,160 for the balance of the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1973 or a total of $44,450 for the year compared to the suggested $67,351 county figure that still might be upped.

Another step

Another step was taken last week in the long trail toward the construction of a library on city-owned property across from the new city hall when the supervisors approved the schematic and design development drawings.

The plans had been prepared by Bill Hedley, Campbell architect, and had previously received the City Council approval. The Council on Monday night directed staff to work with the county officials in updating the lease agreement with the county.

In another library action, the Council recommended that Miss Jean Gomes be reappointed to the County Library Commission. She is completing her first term on the commission.

Cambrian seeks hike of 50-cents

Cambrian School District trustees have scheduled a tax increase election for July 25, 1972 calling for a 50-cent hike in the present $3 rate per $100 assessed valuation. The $3 rate was approved by the voters last spring.

The 50-cent increase would be in effect until June 30, 1974 and the district trustees specified that no more than 30-cents of the raise will be used during the 1972-73 fiscal year.

At the same meeting, the trustees, by resolution specified that voters would be informed in what areas of the budget the tax increase will be used.

The board also went on record to commit the district to a preparation of a balanced budget within the limits of the estimated income and expenditures.

The trustees also authorized Superintendent D. M. Bagby to designate John P. Marlais, a local attorney, to act as the board's representative in meet and confer sessions with the district employees.

Calculator calculating

City councilmen on Monday night probably could have used the computer they were in the process of buying in trying to figure the low bid for the programmable electronic calculator for the engineering department.

Hewlett-Packard was finally awarded the contract for $3,844.03 (with authorized options it came to $4,862.53).

Involved were seven other bids that were made with or without the complicated options.

The Council had deferred action from a previous meeting in order to have the city attorney check out the bid specifications to see whether the "options" and "deficiencies" were all in order.

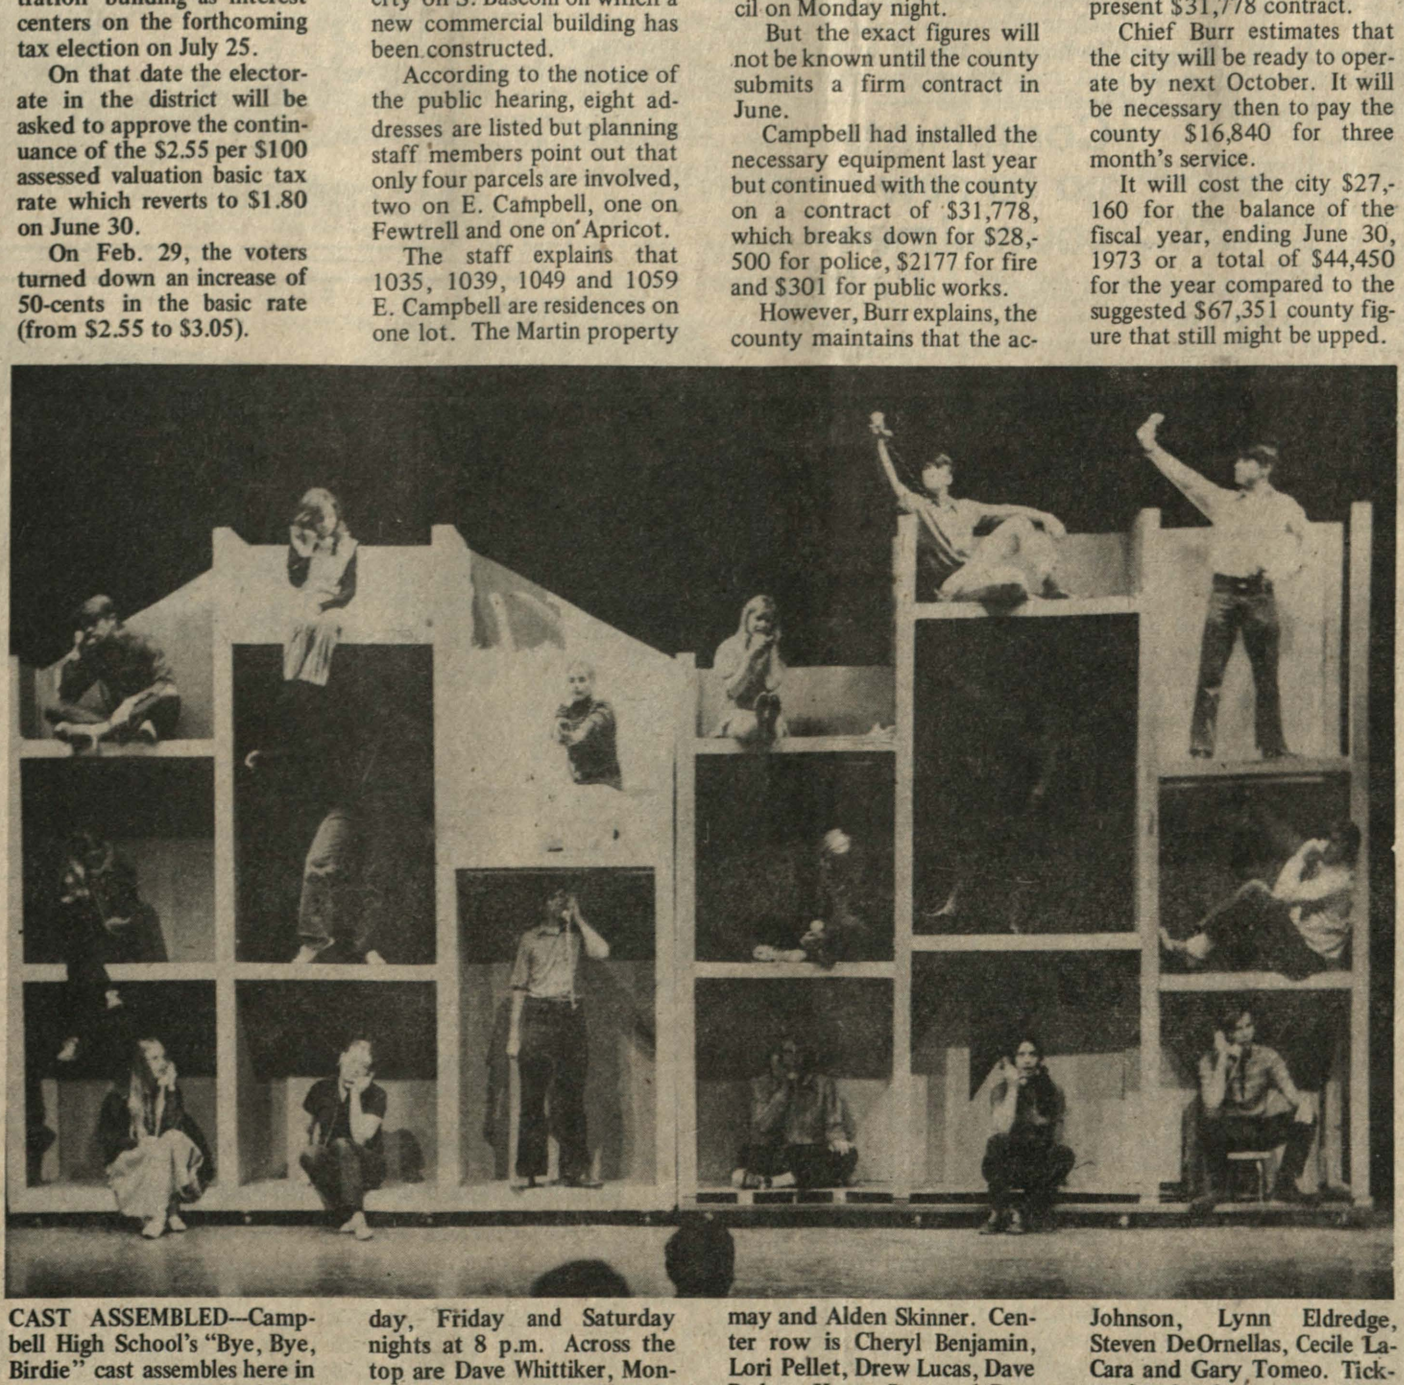
After City Attorney Bob Dempster ruled that everything was in order, Hewlett-Packard got the order.

STUDENT DIRECTOR---Chris Young, a Campbell High senior, has been selected as director of Youth Employment Service (YES), sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, according to John Copper, of IBM, chairman of the CofC committee.

Chris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Young, 963 Old Orchard Rd., was a cheerleader for two years, is a class officer and member of the honor society.

The YES will open at the CofC office, 100 W. Rincon Ave., on Wednesday, May 17. Until June the office will be open from 3 to 5 p.m. and after June 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. YES will list young people who desire work and will act as a clearing house for business firms that have openings.

The phone number is 378-1666. Copper points out that there are always more applicants than jobs available and asks for the cooperation of the business community in finding jobs for the young people.



CAST ASSEMBLED---Campbell High School's "Bye, Bye, Birdie" cast assembles here in rehearsal for their school play which will be presented in the school auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. Across the top are Dave Whittiker, Monica Bianchi, Sabina Engels, Sandy Sprivey, Duane Jolimay and Alden Skinner. Center row is Cheryl Benjamin, Lori Pellet, Drew Lucas, Dave Parker, Karen Doss and Pete Fair. Bottom row is Irene Johnson, Lynn Eldredge, Steven DeOrnellas, Cecile LaCara and Gary Tomeo. Tickets for the shows are available at the school or at the door.

Measure means parks

On the ballot June 6 is a proposition labeled "Measure C," a proposed amendment to the Santa Clara County Charter for park acquisition and development.

This amendment, if approved by the voters, will require that the Board of Supervisors appropriate an amount equal to 10-cents per $100 assessed valuation from the county's general fund each year to a special trust fund to be used only for park acquisition and development.

The source of monies for this fund is not limited to the property tax but may include any other fund sources available now or which may become available through tax law changes.

The appropriation will provide an estimated average amount of $4.6 million in each of the 10 years based on projected growth in assessed valuation.

In addition, the appropriation will permit the county to obtain substantial state and federal park funds otherwise not available. In total, $50-60 million for county parks is at stake in the June election.

The objective of the measure is to make up the deficiency in park land, according to the citizens committee for park and outdoor recreation. The committee submits that recent surveys have indicated that the county residents want more space for hiking, picnicking, camping, swimming and other outdoor activities.

Obviously there will be a great increase in the demand for outdoor recreation facilities in the future. More than five million visitors used the county parks during last year, and on numerous occasions people were turned away from both overnight and day use parks because they were filled to capacity.

Thus the county seems to have reached a critical point in its park program and the charter amendment has been devised from a study over the past two and one-half years by county park and recreation and planning personnel along with representatives from the county and each of the cities within the county. A revised general plan for county regional parks and recreation areas was formulated and approved by the supervisors, following review and approval by several citizens' committees and each of the cities.

From the general plan, a 10-year program for the acquisition and development of parks and recreation was developed. The plan attempts to provide a wide variety of outdoor and recreational opportunities on a county-wide basis, as well as to preserve and utilize properly county areas containing unique and outstanding environmental qualities.

But to implement such a plan, obviously, will take funds that are not now available. And, just as obviously, if the people desire such a program, steps must be taken to finance it. And the charter amendment that is on the ballot June 6 will provide the means.

Many of us who have resided in the county for a number of years take for granted this county's unique location with the bay and the two ranges of mountains surrounding the urban area. Many of us, however, don't really recognize the opportunities that remain for the development of a county-wide park system that will utilize the natural attributes of the area.

There are areas remaining in the Santa Cruz range of mountains which are as beautiful as any found elsewhere in California which can and should be preserved.

As part of the total program to utilize the monies which would be raised from the charter amendment proposal, there has been prepared a tentative five-year schedule for the acquisition and development of park units. This schedule will be reviewed and updated each year by the Board of Supervisors.

We realize that many residents in the county are not interested in recreational activities or the preservation and development of park lands.

There are some who feel that it is a waste of taxpayers money to establish more parks and provide the facilities that will make them usable.

But even the most severe critic of park and recreational funding must be aware of the environmental problems that exist in this area today.

There seems to be no other way to acquire and preserve these undeveloped areas than through a governmental agency.

And the charter amendment that is proposed spreads the cost in an equitable manner.

So we support "Measure C".

and impersonal group, mainly, we guess, because they deal with a commodity (money) that doesn't lend itself too readily to anything but serious consideration.

We mean, of course, that bank customers, as a rule, don't have the same spirit of camaraderie toward the bank executives with whom they are doing business as they might have for those in some of the other fields.

Money matters, unfortunately, seem to have that effect on people.

But then there are exceptions.

For example, we have learned from an unimpeachable source that there is one Bank of America customer who pays a monthly visit to the PruneYard branch.

Each time she comes in she greets Ed Fabbri with a big smack before she does her banking business.

Now, don't get concerned, Mary.

This particular party is on the elderly side and is longtime retired. Ed doesn't get that kind of treatment from any other of his customers.

Over the years, Ed has been considerate and courteous to the little old lady and apparently has treated the LOL and her small account with a respect that has nothing to do with the dollar value involved.

The customer first calls to see if Fabbri will be in and then she comes bustling down.

Ed has always given her his personal and undivided attention.

And she appreciates that.

So she simply shows her appreciation by giving him a big smack.

We wonder if that happens to many other bankers?

Shucks, it could change their entire image.

But we are sure it won't happen.

After all, few people we know have ever felt like kissing a banker.

"T-P-ING A HOUSE" IS A fairly common teenager trick and most all of us have seen the results.

And maybe chuckled.

That is, as long as it was done to another person's house and not our own.

Generally, as we understand it, the reason for the "papering" is to "recognize" another teenager who lives in the house being "decorated."

And, of course, teachers are sometimes "honored" in the same way.

However, recently the house of Al Overholt, pressman for The Press, was "papered."

And there are no teenagers living there nor are the Overholts active in any school in any way.

Involved in the "design" were two names, which Al figured were intended to be the "honorees."

But they lived down the street a couple of blocks.

The "papering" party, it seems, had done their thing to the wrong house.

And there were no "honored" kids in Al's house to help undo the handiwork. Nor were there any of the nocturnal "paper" people around to aid either.

That's really unfair, and to Al, of course, it was very unfunny.

WHILE IN FRESNO A few weeks ago we drove by the brand new and massive Internal Revenue Service (IRS) building that was recently completed and is the IRS headquarters for the west.

As most of you know, Fresno was the destination this year for the first time for those missives, known as the "1040's," that flooded the mails about the middle of April.

The deadline for mailing 'em was midnight on Monday, April 17, and many post offices throughout the area kept open late and offered special facilities for the last-minute mailers.

Some of you observed the line-ups as the witching hour approached and the late-mailers rushed to make the deadline.

But just imagine what it was in Fresno when the stuff arrived.

One of the late mailers happened to be Don Hebard, a member of the Planning Commission which was meeting that night.

Hebard told Chairman Dale Scoot he couldn't stay for the entire meeting because he still had to make out his "1040" and get it in the mail before midnight.

So he left at 10 p.m.

Apparently it was mailed in time.

But we didn't ask him how much time he had to spare.

GETTING READY--Ira Kirkorian (left), chairman of the 4th annual Chamber of Commerce golf tournament, gets some pointers on putting from Al La Plante, president of the CofC in preparation for the big event on Friday, June 9.

The tournament will be held at Oak Ridge Golf Club, 225 Cottle Road, and the $16.50 fee will include green fee, steak dinner and prizes. All the players will tee-off at 12:30 p.m. and the social hour and barbecue is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m.

Reservations must be returned by June 2 and members may invite from one to three guests on a first come, first served basis. Both handicap and Calloway flights will be scheduled and trophies will be given in all flights.

Letters to the Editor

THE AMATO AFFAIR

Dear Editor,

It has been heartening to read of the dedication of so many Campbell citizens, holding together in a protest against another development, this one destined for the Amato property. It's saddening on the other hand to think that it takes referendums to guide a city this size.

But as one who has participated in, and in frustration observed, the proceedings over the last six months, it seemed that this was the destiny almost from the beginning.

For against us was a Planning Commission majority bound and determined to push this project through regardless of public sentiment or opinion; and an equally determined city council majority, making at times, token objections, but with one pre-established goal in mind, both bodies.

*Ignoring the plea of over 1600 residents that the zoning not be increased.

*Ignoring the construction scoreboard of the last three years.

*Apartments and Multiple Units, 1,300; Single Unit Housing, 13.

*Not even seeming to care that the same developer is building R-1 almost across the street, but in San Jose.

It seems that when Mayor Doetsch (past) tossed away the gavel of the City of Campbell, so that he could push the development through, he tossed away the right to represent those 1600 who had asked him to vote against the rezoning.

So now there are 2,000 who have openly pledged their objections.

How many will it take gentlemen?

Sincerely,
Jerry Hansen

Complaints go to new councilmen

Campbell's two newest councilmen, Norm Paul and Rusty Hammer, presented their first "citizen complaints" at the City Council meeting Monday and both received the support of their fellow councilmen.

Paul said that a citizen had called his attention to the fact that "Fewtrell Drive" was marked "Avenue" in some locations. Staff was directed to rectify the mismarking.

Hammer said that he had received letters from third graders from Hamilton School, who called attention to the lack of available trash cans throughout the city where clean-up minded individuals could put litter. He added that Mrs. Jeanette Watson and The Campbell Press had received similar letters.

Hammer also added that he had talked to the youngsters. He suggested that their complaints be officially recognized by the Council and the kids were told that the city would look into it.

His fellow councilmen wholeheartedly agreed.

nance or call a referendum election on the zoning issue.

The signatures on the petition are now being checked by the Registrar of Voters but, as only 881 were needed to force Council action, it is anticipated that the City Council would have been forced to take action in either of the two ways that are open.

But the action by the Council on Monday night to direct staff to prepare an ordinance rescinding the "Amato ordinance" came Monday night after a letter from Mike Engdol, president of Dura Style Homes, had requested the ordinance be rescinded.

SINCE OCTOBER

The zone change on the 31-acre parcel from R-1 to P-D (planned development) had been originally requested by Dura Style Homes in October when a site plan for a development of single-family town house complex was presented.

After months of controversy, during which the residents in the area vigorously protested any change in the R-1 zoning of the property, at both the Planning Commission and City Council level, the site plan ordinance squeeked by on a 3-2 vote.

But the residents were not through. They gathered the necessary signatures to force the referendum election or the rescinding action.

The action by the City Council on Monday directing that an ordinance be rescinded marks the second time in this city's history that this was done. In 1964, when a petition with sufficient signatures was filed the Council followed the same procedure.

In December, 1970, however, the Council called an election over the third screen question of the Winchester Drive-In. Subsequently the Council's action was upheld at the polls.

HARBOR EMPEROR

"A DAY ON THE BAY"--- Sponsored by the Campbell Rotary Club, a train ride and bay cruise is on tap for Sunday, May 21. The big event is titled, "A Day On the Bay" and marks the fifth annual fund-raising affair that the Rotary Club used to finance its youth activities and other projects. Tickets are $9 for adults and $5 for children under 13. The price includes a trip by train to San Francisco, chartered buses to Fisherman's Wharf and a one and one-half hour long bay cruise. Al Smith is "trainmaster" and general chairman and Merv Willoughby is ticket chairman. Tickets can be obtained at various business houses in town or from Rotary members.

Rotary to host train ride plus Bay cruise

For their fifth annual fund-raising event, the Campbell Rotary Club will host a train ride to Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco and a bay cruise on Sunday, May 21, according to Al Smith, chairman.

Titled, "A Day On the Bay," the 45-man service club has set prices for the event at $9 for adults and $5 for children under 13 years. The price includes a round-trip Southern Pacific Railroad train ride on double-decker coaches to San Francisco; chartered buses to Fisherman's Wharf and a one and one-half hour long bay cruise.

The trip is planned to allow ample time to visit the many interesting and historical sights which abound along the San Francisco waterfront and North Shore area.

Merv Willoughby is ticket chairman and tickets are available at most Campbell business locations as well as the Southern Pacific Depot in San Jose. In San Jose, all Orchard Supply stores will offer tickets to the public.

Smith is official "Trainmaster" as well as event chairman and has promised that this event will be better than the Rotary Club's train ride to Monterey which took place last year.

Smith adds that features of the group's past programs are noted for their lack of formality, fun, music and informative publications about things to see and do.

Myron Alexander, club president, pointed out that last year's sell-out crowd resulted in a 13-car train consist which raised $2,500 for the John Morgan Fund. (This year, proceeds from the trip will be used for a variety of community and youth oriented projects.)

Departure time is 9 a.m. on Sunday, May 21 from the San Jose passenger train station and arrival time back in San Jose is scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

THIRD GRADE COMPLAINT

WHERE ARE ALL THE TRASH BINS???

Third graders from Hamilton School went on a letter-writing campaign last week.

But not until they had been on a litter-walking trip.

The youngsters, students of Miss Bell's class, took a field trip to Campbell Park. Part of their trip was spent picking up debris from the sidewalks and curbs.

Before they reached the park, their sacks were filled and they stopped and asked local merchants if they could use their commercial trash bins.

Apparently, they weren't too successful and most of them had to carry their litter to the park and deposit it in the regular public trash bins.

Annoyed, they returned to school to take up paper and pencil and address more than a dozen letters to Rusty Hammer, newly-elected councilman, and "Mrs. Jeanette Watson, Beautification Editor, Campbell Press."

Hammer visited the class and invited them to attend a city council meeting.

Mrs. Watson, who has served the city as Beautification CHAIRMAN, reported she was pleased "that there are young people in the city who are concerned."

"I hope that their interest will impress the rest of the community," she said.

Here are some of the comments from the letters:

Dear Councilman:

Last Thursday we went on a cleanup.

We did not have any trash cans because they were filled. And that's a big problem.

So we want to know is if we can have more trash cans.

Brenda B.

Our class went for a trash pickup last Thursday. We went to two businesses and neither one would let us put our trash in it.

Ted Collver

....When we asked a man if we could use his bin, he couldn't let us.

....I would do everything to help Campbell.

Scott Elliott

....I found one trash can. But it was full....

Mark Clausen

....Last Thursday, Miss Bell and the class went to clean the city. Some people did not let us drop litter in their bins.

Then we went to another business. They let us drop some litter, but not all of it. We need more bins.

Molly Kupbens

....I wish you could put some more trash cans in Campbell. By the time I got to the park I had a full bag again and we decided we need more trash cans.

....We went on a street clean up. My bag broke....We had to dump our trash in the little trash cans. Some of us were very disappointed.

Kandy Shaddox

....We asked if we could use their bins, they said no....I don't think it's fair. People say clean up and so we did and don't have a place to dump the trash....

Dear Mr. Watson,

We went for a cleanup last Thursday. We asked two businesses if we could dump our trash and they said no. Then we asked another business and they only let us dump a little bit of trash.

Then we went to the park and started picking up trash over there. Then we played a little bit. Then we went back to school. Please put out more bins. Thank you.

Snow fell on their wedding day

After a ceremony performed recently at St. Mary's Church in Westloch, Alberta, Patricia Reynolds and John Edgar Shaffer left through a lightly falling snow for a honeymoon in Banff and Calgary.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds, 440 April Way, Campbell, Patricia was given in marriage by her father during nuptials conducted by Reverend Morrisette.

A full-length chapel train flowed from the bride's A-line wedding dress, which was enhanced with sheer Juliet sleeves and illusion yoke and lace appliques.

She carried a multi-colored bouquet of spring flowers, while her attendants held bunches of blue iris and yellow daffodils.

Cathy Reynolds, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, while Maureen and Patricia Shaffer, sisters of the groom, were bridesmaid and flower girl, respectively.

The attendants wore sheer gowns of green, lavender and blue.

John Shaffer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Erin Shaffer, of Dapp, Alberta, chose his brother, David, as best man.

Eric Shaffer, also a brother of the groom, and Roger Knorr, were ushers.

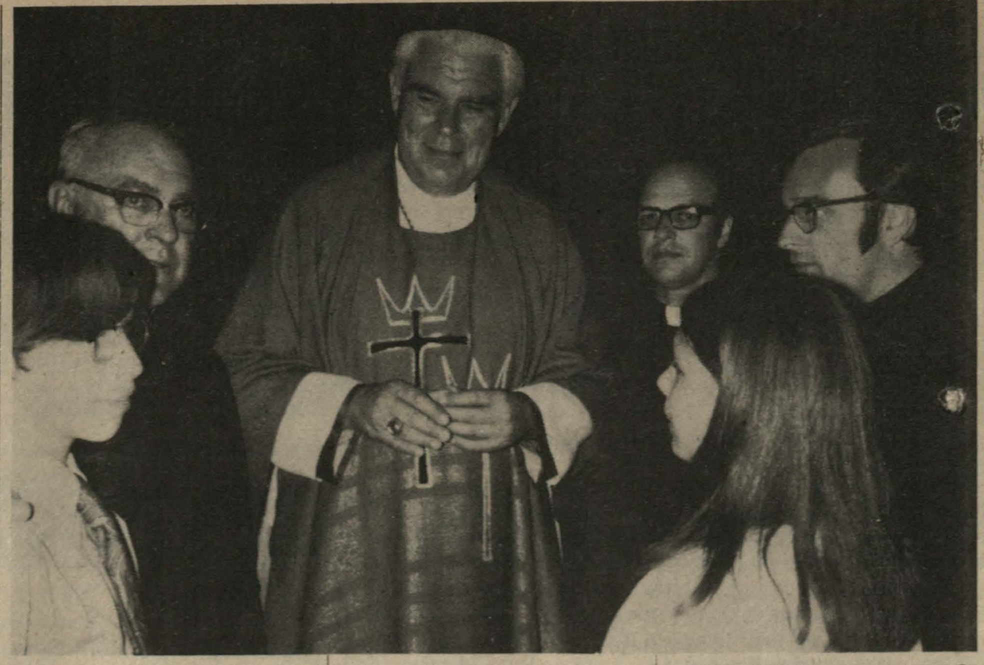
The groom's mother wore a light green jersey print for the wedding, while the bride's mother attired in a two piece pink dress accented by a corsage of baby white roses.

The newly married couple are both education majors at the University of Alberta.

A reception for the new Mr. and Mrs. John Shaffer, who plan to make their home in Edmonton, Alberta, was held in St. Mary's Church Hall.

Patricia is a 1969 graduate of Del Mar High, while John was graduated from Westloch High, Alberta.

MRS. JOHN SHAFFER



CONFIRMATION — Bishop Norman F. McFarland, center, smiles his blessing on Patrick McKinnon and Kathleen Keegan during confirmation ceremonies for 102 adults and high school freshmen held recently at St. Lucy's Church. Watching are Rev. Leonard Bose, the church's pastor, and associate pastors Rev. Henri Boisvert and Rev. G. Robert Leger. A reception in St. Lucy's Kennelly Hall followed the ceremonies for which participants had prepared via eight weeks of discussion classes.

Campbellite aids campaign

Mrs. Wilma Plog has been named Campbell chairman of the 1972 Hope Chest campaign to be conducted from May 20 to May 27 by the Santa Clara County Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

The annual campaign is the single most important source of funds for the Society's Patient Service and Research programs.

The local chapter provides wheelchairs, crutches, beds, walkers and other sickroom equipment and many other services without charge when needed by the more than 400 patients in the county.

Multiple Sclerosis, a chronic disabling disease of the central nervous system, most frequently attacks people in their prime years, 20-40.

Volunteers are still needed to prepare marcher's kits and to participate in the Hope Chest drive by marching in their neighborhoods.

Anyone desiring to help may contact the local chapter at 1060 Willow Street, Suite 3, San Jose, phone 286-4111.

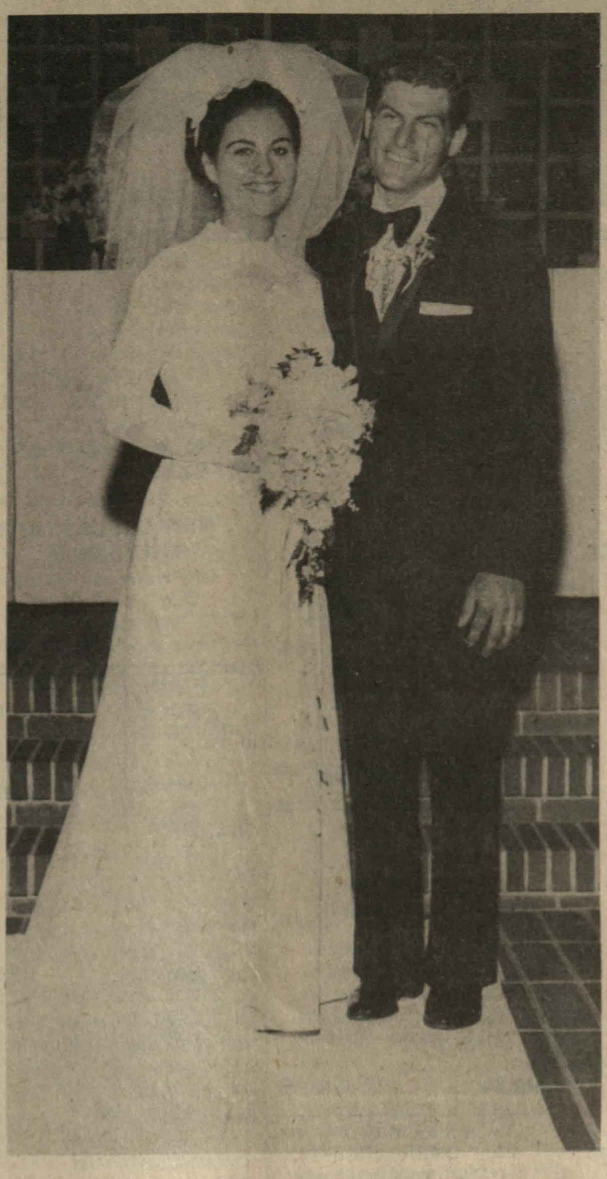
Bride wore gold baptismal cross



MR. and MRS. HENRY EARL PIAZZA

A gold baptismal cross was worn by Marialena Hofer when she was married to Henry Earl Piazza at a double ring ceremony performed by Monsignor Montesti in St. Justins Church, Santa Clara.

White bud roses, carnations, orchids and stephanotis were carried by the bride, who was attired in a traditional empire gown of silk organza over taffeta.

Lace appliques and seed pearl beading decorated the gown's bodice and the sheer sleeves and neck.

A silk illusion veil cascaded from the swept-up tresses of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Hofer, of Santa Clara, while the bridegroom is the son of Charles Piazza, Sr., of Kenneth Avenue, Campbell.

Serving the couple as attendants were Mrs. Robert Newcomb, sister of the bride (maid of honor) and bridesmaids Bruna Polverino, cousin of the bride, Debby Daily and Betty Shay.

Each of the girls was dressed in flowered organza gowns lined with white, pink and yellow, respectively.

They carried bouquets of baby's breath and daisies dyed white, green, pink and yellow to match each of their gowns.

The bride's mother wore a mint green coat-dress ensemble enhanced with delicate chiffon flowers.

Male attendants for the couple were Bud Smith, best man, and ushers Peter A. Hofer, brother of the bride, and Mike Pippin. Ringbearer at the wedding was Jeffrey R. Newcomb, nephew of the bride.

Musical numbers for the wedding, "Love Story", "A Time For Us" and "Ave Maria", were played by Mrs. Polverino, organist.

Out-of-town guests who attended the ceremony include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dave of Irvin, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Ignazio Dave of South Dakota.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Piazza left for a honeymoon to Disneyland and San Diego after a dinner reception at the Little New Yorker Restaurant, which was attended by 240 guests.

The couple, who are making their first home in Campbell, are both former West Valley College students.

A Campbell High graduate, Henry is employed by Owen's Corning Fiberglas.

His recent bride, a Wilcox High graduate, works as a secretary-receptionist in the administrative offices of the Bank of America, San Jose.

Residents aid "Rainmaker"

Three Campbell area residents are involved with the Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Players' production of "The Rainmaker" which opens Friday and Saturday, May 26 and 27 at 8:30 p.m. at the Saratoga Civic Theater, Fruitvale Ave.

Directing the romantic comedy of a drought-ridden mid-western ranch is Stan Wolf, who is currently completing work for a master's degree at San Jose State College.

Andy Moore, an employee of TV channel 20, and a frequent actor and crew member with the Community Players, will coordinate sound for the upcoming "Rainmaker."

Lighting will be arranged by Bill Jones, a Campbell High student who has worked backstage on "A Man For All Seasons," "Sunday In New York" and "We have always lived in the castle."

Cast members for "The Rainmaker" include Bob Gatto, Kari Blum, Ed Rand, Greg Tours and C. Michael Traw.

Tickets for the Community Players production, which continues the weekends of June 2, 3, 9 and 10, are available for $2.50, with discounts for students and groups. For reservations phone 264-0188.

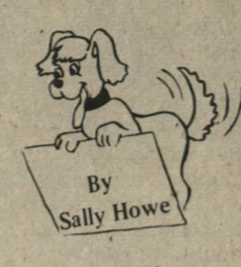
Bringing up fido



Fido's children just had their two-month birthday.

They're all fat and playful and spend a great deal of time wrestling each other to the ground or playing tug-of-war.

Yesterday the veterinarian came to Fido's house and gave the puppies their first "adult" shot. The shot, sometimes called a "permanent" shot, isn't really permanent, but is given in place of "puppy" or "temporary" shots. This guards against distemper, leptospirosis and hepatitis.

Next month the puppies will get their second shot and sometime between four and six months they'll get an anti-rabies vaccination.

The puppies now spend a great deal of time outside, as weather permits, in a special pen built just for them. Although there are many commercial pens available, Fido's owner found an easy way to make one inexpensively.

The idea came at a flea market where he purchased about eight metal racks which came from a defunct bakery. He drilled holes in the sides and, using metal binder rings, fastened all eight racks together to make a big octagonal enclosure.

The puppies love it.

They can see through the slats at the world, but they can't get out.

The pen is portable and one day it's put on the grass and another day on good old dirty dirt!

The puppies' indoor sleeping quarters is a second hand playpen with cardboard around the sides to keep the inquisitive pups from falling out.

They eat their evening meal in here too so they are still using many, many newspapers.

They are old enough now to dislike soiling their bed, so if Fido's owner gets them outside quickly (and early) every morning, they pass the night without having any accidents.

When the weather is bad, the puppies stay indoors. For amusement they have a variety of toys, including empty paper towel rollers, knotted rags, hard rubber bones and a cardboard box with holes in the sides for peek-a-boo games.

Soon they will be seeking new homes and making adjustments to new families.

PLEASE, THOMAS--Lisa Williams, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crough, 758 Rincon Ave., has a private conversation with her Basset hound, Thomas, about how good he's going to be after he enrolls in the Santa Clara Dog Training Club's annual kids dog training program which started last night at the county fairgrounds. Registrations for the classes will continue next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. The only requirement for the program is that the dogs participating have their necessary immunizations. Each youngster is asked to bring 50-cents which the club turns over to the Santa Clara Valley Humane Society. For further information, call 378-6030.

A for your thoughts

by Edith R. Bonnet

SEASCAPE

It's funny what early summer weather does to your perspective. The routine jobs that are a part of everyday life seem to melt into the wall and it is much more enjoyable to daydream about a long walk on the beach. The ocean seems to draw near, its moods reflecting our own, always active, but quick to change. Sometimes the waves pound down on the shore with fury as if letting go of all the bottled up resentments, clearing the shore of debris left during the night. It seems to want to go beyond its limits, yet knows where it has to stop.

Other times, the cheerful lapping of low swells speak of peace and a quiet acceptance that all is well. In the early morning, before the ocean shores are crowded with sunworshipers, is the very nicest time to seek its companionship.

Alone, with only a few seagulls overhead, it calls you to linger awhile and rest. To many, there is no greater place to sort the bits and pieces of our thoughts, or perhaps to forget, for a short time, the complicated business we live with. Here, one can pause and be renewed, without being asked for anything in return.

THE IRONY OF IT ALL

At times, the tremendous problems we face in our society, and our world seem so complex, it makes one feel like throwing up the hands in complete resignation. And, yet to do so, to stop trying, for those who have been bitten by the habit, would be like trying to stop eating and still go on living.

As I sat and watched the astronauts parachute back to earth from a scientific mission to a mystical globe in the sky, I felt a great swelling of pride.

At the same time depression laid heavy on my shoulders, and my mind's eye tried to picture a small child on a street in Calcutta, crying because his only morsel of food had been taken from him and given to a sacred cow. And all around the street, urchin people lay dying in the gutters, with no one even stopping to glance. They lay still, not even crying out, merely happy the great trial is almost over.

It's so hard to understand how killing a neighbor in our own country, can send a man to the gas chamber, and another who kills a neighbor across the sea, has the complete sanction of our laws, because of a little boy's game called war.

It's frustrating to know we can build rocketships to the stars and back, and that very same intelligence can't seem to relate to solving earthly problems.

I envy people who seem to accept life as it is, and seem to know it's all in good hands. They are so sure of its purpose and feel no need to question its aims.

The road is lonely and hard, to feel the continual bombardment of problems so much larger than we are. But to some of us, life as it is, can not be accepted. The loneliness of questions, the never ending search for answers, will be a way of life, for as long as we go on living.

Jansen family plan camps

Under the direction of members of the Vic Jansen family, a summer recreational program will be conducted on a day camp basis for youngsters 6-9 and 10-13 years of age.

Day camps will begin when school closes and the boys and girls will be picked up at 8 a.m. each day and returned as soon after 4 p.m. as the activity will permit.

Registration is required by Saturday of the week previous to the week of day camp.

The activities will consist of boating, swimming, fishing, hiking, trips to the beach, games, crafts and special tours.

The program, called "adventures in recreation", is directed by Mr. and Mrs. Vic Jansen, who are long-experienced in such activities. They are assisted by their two sons, John, 25, who is a specialist in surfing sports and swimming and Dan, 21, who handles basketball and other sports and nature, and their daughter, Vickie, 23, who will be in charge of the craft games.

The Jansens live at 1552 Jacob Ave. and can be contacted at 264-0706.

She is a major in speech and home economics. Nearly 1250 students of the 12,107 enrolled at Cal Poly were cited for attaining course grades placing them in the top 15 per cent of the students.

Redlands junior makes all A's

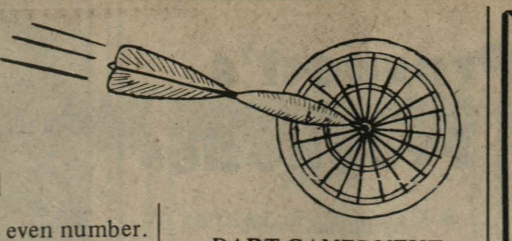
Constance Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey I. Russell, 49 Decorah, Campbell, was placed on the University of Redlands' 1971 fall semester honor roll.

A junior majoring in mathematics and psychology, Constance was honored for her straight "A" average.

She is a 1969 graduate of Del Mar High where she was awarded with lifetime CSF membership and was a governor's scholarship recipient.

The Redlands junior received honors at entrance to that university where she also scored top marks in 1969 and 1970.

DARTING AROUND



with Tom Carroll

Last week, I covered the combinations of the most popular out, 32 or double 16. Again I will restate, the odd double should be avoided if at all possible. From there we will look at another popular double, the double 18. This is shot mostly by people who like the upper right hand side of the board.

The major disadvantage to shooting the double 18 is that a single 18 leaves you with an odd double, the double 9. But if your dart drops, it hits the single 4 and now you are into the double 16 progression.

A single 9 puts these shooters back into the upper right hand side of the board when they shot a 1, double 4 for the out.

There are several numbers that you can go out on using the center bulls-eye. The four numbers above 160 that can be three dart outs require the bull for the finish. 161 has two combinations, both of which end on the bull. (Triple 20, triple 17, bull and triple 19, triple 18, bull).

For 164 you either have to lay in two triple 19's before the bull or hit triple 20, triple 18.

The 167 can only be hit with the triple 20, triple 19 before goinging for the bull. I mentioned last week that the 170 was two triple 20's and the bull.

Why were some of the combinations picked as the ones to use when you can go out in several different ways from the same number? Of prime importance is the position of the numbers on the dart board. Three triples crop up more often in the combinations because of this.

The triple 20, of course, because most players shoot for it. This might also be said of the triple 19 as this is also a popular number.

The 19's position on the board is the reason it is a popular number when shooting for score. With the 7 and 3 on either side, a little side drift isn't as disastrous as when shooting for the triple 20.

A triple 1 is considerably smaller than a triple 3. The same is true when comparing the 7 and 5.

Another thing to remember here is the basic mathematical concept that two odd numbers give you an even number.

Next week I'll talk about three dart out combinations.

West Valley Sports

by Dick Sparrer

It's been a very profitable spring for West Valley College athletic teams as three of the five nabbed league championships, one more ended with their best ever season, and the fifth is still vying for a second place finish.

VIKES "BEST TRACK TEAM" EVER

"This is the best track team in the history of the school," said Vike oval boss Tom Smith after his squad rambled to a win at the CNC finals.

The Vikes totaled 127½ points while Solano was second with 93. John Murphy (Del Mar) won the triple jump, Mike Schaecher (Branham) took the mile, Steve Gibson (Saratoga) the high hurdles and Randy Carlson (Blackford) the 880 to pace the first place effort.

The Northern California championships are slated for May 17 and 20. Saturday the Vikes compete in the West Coast relays in Fresno.

Entered at WVC will be the distance medley team of Mike Flack (Westmont), Carlson, Mike Haniger (Mitty), and Schaecher, winners at the San Diego relays earlier in the year; the two mile relay team (same squad with Brad Syth replacing Flack), winners at the NorCal relays this year; the mile relay and Murphy in the triple jump.

Because of their efforts last week Smith will also try to enter Gibson in the hurdles and Brooks Gregory and Irvin Crumpler in the 100.

STYRON WINS PLAY-OFF

After winning the dual-match title with relative ease in the CNC, the WVC golfers rambled to a team title last week at Riverside, 22 strokes below their nearest rival Contra Costa.

Todd Styron (Del Mar) and Randy Johnson (Branham) tied for first in the individual standings with 149 scores, but Styron won a sudden death play-off on one extra hole. Styron fired rounds of 72, to lead the first day, and 77 while Johnson scored 80 and 69, a school record for 18 holes.

WRIGHT THROWS WVC PAST DE ANZA

WVC will close the current baseball season this week as they travel to Solano Tuesday and entertain Contra Costa Thursday at Central Park (3 p.m.).

The Vikes posted 8-2 and 10-4 wins over De Anza and Skyline, respectively, last week to run their season record to 12-7. Dave Wright (Los Gatos) tossed a four hitter and fanned 11 as he beat DAC while Pat Williams (Camden), Gene Litle (Mitty) and Len Balli (Branham) combined in the hurling against Skyline.

Herb Hodgins (Buchser), Rich Kehrig (Blackford), and Bob Rasmussen (Branham) were the hitting stars of the DAC win while Hodgins, his brother Mike and Chuck Behnke (Saratoga) led the Skyline victory.

NET DOUBLES TEAM NOR CAL QUALIFIERS

Jim Martin (Cupertino) and Dan Horgan (Santa Clara) are the only WVC netmen left in competition after the CNC tourney and will compete Thursday and Friday in the NorCal championships at Canada.

Martin and Horgan, representing Valley as a doubles team, beat DAC to get into the quarter-finals where they lost to top ranked Canada. But all that was necessary for NorCal qualification was reaching the quarters.

In their only other action last week, WVC downed Santa Clara University 7-2 to push their season record to a fine 17-9. Martin, Horgan, Ken Hamilton (Del Mar), Steve Borkenhagen (Santa Clara) and Glen Davis (Westmont) all won singles matches while Martin and Horgan and Davis and Charles Sharples (a resident of Los Gatos) won in doubles competition.

UNDER THE WIRE! -- Jay Thoman of 610 Pamlar Avenue was the last one in with his answer, but he was the first one to have it right. So Thoman becomes this week's winner of the "Mystery Car" contest sponsored by Dick Whalen's Regal Station on W. Campbell Ave. Thoman's prize was $20 in cash, which he is shown here (left) receiving from station manager John Brazzillo.

The "Mystery Car" was a 1905 Maxwell. However, Thoman went even farther. He identified it as a 1905 "Model L" Maxwell.

Prospect's Prophecies

PROM

"Only the Beginning" is to be the theme of the annual Junior-Senior Prom, to be presented by the classes of '72 and '73 this Saturday, May 13.

The red, white, and gold decor of the Los Altos Hills Country Club will be the setting for this year's formal dance.

Music will be provided by "7th Street" with a Continental breakfast served to all at 12 a.m. The prom will begin at 9 p.m. The price of the bids is $10.

INVASION

For three days last week, Prospect High was invaded by nursery school children, both young and old.

The young nursery schoolers were children between the ages of two and five who were brought in by students and faculty alike to participate in the homemaking department's annual nursery school project.

A group of senior homemaking students, teaching each other little sing-song rhymes and finger plays to be taught in turn to the younger ones, worked on preparations for the nursery school for nearly a week before the actual start of the project.

The day before the small children arrived, the senior girls occupied themselves with such tasks as making playdough, fingerpaint, and paste.

Many a senior girl was seen with brightly colored hands after working with the playdough and fingerpaints, which had to be colored with food coloring.

The purpose of the nursery school project is to let seniors get an idea of the playing and sharing habits of small children, as well as to teach them how to get along with little kids, and talk to them without making them afraid or confused.

For three days, the girls took turns working with the children in the many different play areas, or sitting back and observing and writing down what they saw.

Two of the days saw the creative writing students helping out by reading their own stories to the children, while the girls served cookies and juice, and cleaned up the room for the next day's work.

These two story-telling periods were filmed, and the films are to be sent to the District Office, to help out with future nursery school projects.

CHEERLEADERS

Prospect's student body has elected eight girls to represent its spirit for next year.

Jacque Bennett, Luann Coker, and Kim Patterson were chosen as the Frosh-Soph cheerleaders for the '72-'73 school year, while the varsity yellers are Pam Botherton, Carol Buckles, Laurie Kulchin, Lisa Motch, and Betty Taylor.

BEST DRIVERS

According to the records of the Santa Clara County Safety Council, Prospect has been found to have the least amount of traffic violations in the C.U.H.S.D. this year, up to April 14.

Prospect drivers have had only 112 violations.

SWIM TEAM

A very depressed swim team was seen leaving the Prospect pool deck on Friday, April 28.

The team's last swim meet was held that day, with a chance to tie for first place against Saratoga.

However, by a three point difference in scores, Saratoga came out ahead, leaving Prospect in a high second place.

The final score of the meet was 49-46. Five swimmers received the title of "Swimmers of the Week" after that meet; Steve Kulchin, Kevin Waycik, Jim Bast, Dave Watts, and Dave McGee.

Warrior Wrap-Up

GIRLS SPORTS

Friday afternoon, a group of 48 girls, loaded down with just the bare necessities (curlers, make-up, baby dolls, etc.), will take off for Uvas Meadows. They'll have their four "chaperones" along of course.

The annual Girls' Sports Camping Trip will start at 5 p.m. Friday and end at 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Along with the fun of swimming, hiking, and fishing; the girls will also pitch tents, cook their meals, and wash the dishes.

While at Uvas Meadows, the Girls' Sports members will stay in camp groups of six or seven.

This year's camp-out is bound to be another memorable experience for the Westmont Warriorettes.

CSF AND HONOR SOCIETY

As the swallows return to Capistrano, so do Westmont CSF and Honor Society members return to San Francisco.

On Wednesday, May 17, approximately 275 students with a grade point average of 3.0 or better will board their buses for a full day of fun and frolic in San Francisco.

Each year, these students spend a little of their time working in the snack bar to earn the money for this trip. Not only does this money go to the San Francisco trip, but also to student scholarships.

Along with being able to go to San Francisco, they always have a choice of three or four movies to attend, free of charge. This year is a little different, however. The students will be able to select one of the following:

"The Godfather", "Fiddler on the Roof", "The Rothschilds" (at the Civic Light Opera), or, for the first time, a game between the Giants and Cincinnati at Candlestick Park.

The students will be dropped off at Fisherman's Wharf and, after a full day of being on their own, be picked up at Union Square at 9 p.m.

Undoubtedly, they'll have a great time. The thought of missing a day of school will be enough to keep them smiling.

TRY–OUTS

Flag Girl try-outs were held on April 27. Flag Girls for next year are: Patti Tounger (head), Robin Rosendale (co-head), Lori Allen, Rosie Heinen, Richelle Littleton, and Wanda Lehman.

Finals for next year's Satin Dolls were completed last Friday. Results were: Linda Lucas (head), Marcia Roberson (co-head), Pam Falke, Lori Gordillo, Linda Larreaux, Carmen Gallegos, Cheri Kinley, Carolyn Pinkerman, Patty Boyd, Patsy Falke, Linda Fowles, and Kathy Macierz.

SPORTS

Westmont's track team finished its season with four wins and five losses. Last Saturday, Speed City placed fourth at the Santa Cruz Relays and won 16 medals.

The tennis team has had a very good season with 13 wins and four losses.

League finals for tennis were last Friday and Saturday. Competing for Westmont were Dave Metcalf and Nate Patterson, doubles and Raymond Dorst, singles.

Dave Metcalf has proved to be an outstanding tennis player by winning 48 out of 49 starts. He wiped his last four opponents by 6-0, 6-0 scores.

CHORUS--Bob Steiner leads the San Tomas School Chorus in a performance for parents and students who attended the school's annual open house and spaghetti dinner.

School receives trophy award

Parents and students who attended the Annual Open House and Spaghetti Dinner at San Tomas Elementary School last week were treated to a special surprise.

The trophy awarded to the school's youth organizations float in the Campbell Easter Parade was given to the school.

Mark Kurtz, student body president, and Jim Bryan, school principal, were asked to receive the trophy for the school from Mrs. Mara'd Vander Wal, PTA president.

San Tomas PTA, Pack 330, Troop 330, Camp Fire Girls, and Girl Scouts from the school all helped in the construction of the float.

Many of the mothers and students worked during spring vacation to make the more than 500 flowers that decorated the float.

Following the trophy presentation talented youngsters in the school choir and the orchestra performed an outstanding program for a capacity crowd.

The choir was directed by Bob Steiner and the orchestra was directed by Mrs. John Irish.

Youth battle wind and cold to scale Mount Shasta

Battling 50 mile an hour winds, subzero temperatures and waist deep snow, 20 valley youths scaled 14,161 foot Mount Shasta Tuesday, March 27.

The youths, composed of individuals from several West Valley Hiking Club high school chapters, set a record for the largest and youngest known group to ever have scaled Shasta during the winter.

Rachael Orovitz, 14-year-old Leigh High freshman, one of four girls on the climb, is the youngest known girl to have climbed Shasta in the winter season.

The intense conditions found on Shasta presented many problems to the climbing team. On Sunday, March 26, the team began the climb at the 6,800 foot level at Bunny Flats.

The group carried its 1,000 pounds of winter mountaineering equipment through waist-deep, crusted powder snow to a wind swept basin at the 10,000 foot level on Mt. Shasta.

Once there, camp was established in the midst of a violent wind and snow storm. High winds in excess of 50 miles per hour plagued the group the entire four days the climbers spent on the mountain.

During the first evening tragedy was narrowly averted when one of the large high altitude mountaineering tents was nearly blown over onto two stoves in a tent that was being used to prepare the evening meal.

Monday was spent in intense review of winter mountaineering techniques including cramponing (use of steel spikes attached to boots) snow belays, ice axe and team arrests, in preparation for the climb.

Tuesday, the day of the climb, found the group groping through deep snow as the climbers headed up toward the heart at the 11,000 foot level.

From this elevation the young climbers, using crampons, ascended nearly 2,000 feet of steep 70 degree windblown, hard-pack snow to an elevation of 13,000 feet.

As the climbers reached the top of Red Banks, a high angle ridge, they were greeted by tremendous wind gusts that forced temperatures well below the zero degree mark. The group reached the summit plateau at 3 p.m., after seven hours and 4,500 feet of intense climbing.

The descent took the group approximately four hours due to the deep crusted powder snow. That night the climbers experienced an intense 15 hour windstorm that caused two of the tents to tear.

The next morning they packed equipment amidst wind-whipped snow and began the slow trudge down to Bunny Flats and the end of an intense and, at times, frightening experience.

Leadership on the outing was provided by veteran mountaineer and youth wilderness leader, Leon Berthiaume, director of the club and a teacher at Castro Junior High. He was assisted by Marshall Pike, club guide and field director.

The future climbing activities of the club's high intensity climbing groups will include climbs of Mt. Talac near Lake Tahoe the weekend of May 6 and 7, and Matterhorn peak near Bridgeport, Memorial Day weekend.

In August two groups will spend 18 days climbing in the North Cascades of Washington State and the Canadian Coast Range above Vancouver, B.C. The cost of these trips are $99 which includes food, transportation, leadership and community equipment.

The West Valley Hiking Club Inc. is reported to be the largest youth wilderness group of its kind in the United States and offers over 70 outings per year, with established chapters at 15 area schools in addition to individuals with no units at their schools.

The club requires no formal membership but is open for either limited participation.

An active group of high school youths who volunteer most of their free time to making the non-profit corporation a day-to-day success. In addition, many adults provide administrative assistance.

Participation in all of the outings is open to young people between the ages of 10 and 20 years, regardless of experience.

Teachers wishing to start chapters of the club at their schools should contact the hiking club.

Those interested in information or membership may contact the West Valley Hiking Club Inc., 409 E. Hamilton Ave., Campbell, California, phone 374-3311. Office hours are between 4 and 6 p.m. daily.

UP THE GLACIER --- Jerry Kauffman, Prospect High student, climbs up a glacier in the North Cascades National Park during the summer climbing program of the West Valley Hiking Club. The four-year-old club, which is based at 409 E. Hamilton Ave., Campbell, offers a program of low-cost intensive hiking to students in 12 area schools.

TALKING IT OVER---Marshall Pike, guide for the West Valley Hiking Club, discusses the climb up Mt. Shasta with Rachael Orovitz, 14-year-old Leigh High freshman.

DESCENT---As they descend Mt. Shasta, West Valley Hiking Club members turn for a final glimpse of the peak's wind-swept slopes.
